Contents

Introduction and historical perspectives
History of open abdomen
References

Indications for open abdomen and classification
Statements
Scientific foundation
Classification of open abdomen
References

Methods for temporary abdominal closure
Statements
Scientific foundation
Choice of TAC technique
References

The frozen abdomen
Statements
Scientific foundation
Toward a planned ventral hernia
References

Entero-atmospheric fistula(s)
Statements
Scientific foundation
Dressing techniques and control of enteric output
Definitive correction
References

Definitive closure after open abdomen in trauma patients
Statements
Scientific foundation
References

Intensive care management of the open abdomen patient
Scientific foundation
Ongoing resuscitation, correction of hypothermia, coagulopathy and acidosis
Hemodynamic monitoring
Fluid management
Ventilation strategy
Sedation, analgesia, anxiolysis and paralysis
Nutritional support
Antibiotics and the control of infectious complications
References

Abbreviations